Attractive Turnents to Be Seen on Pienen.

riages. The feminine whips make quite a eature in the processional of swell turnouts that streams through Central Park from 4 o'clock until 6. They are as striking as the equestriennes. When the throng of carriages pours out of the Fifth avenue entrance to the Park and the world and its wife rat-tles over the smooth street on its way home to dinner, numbers of young women—they are usually young, whether matrons or maids attract attention by the adaptness with which they handle the reins.

to let himself out. When the fair driver gets out into on open street she gives him his head more. She was the wife of the proprietor of a large Seventh avenue stable.

They like it, especially the swell young society girls. Women are always drawn to what is manish in the way of exercise or diversion if the proprieties smile on it and fashion sets her seal thereon. It is a good, wholesome habit, and the afternoon drive in the Park is reised still more too hydronic trol. Some of the delicate-looking girls con-vey a mystery to the horse by their judicious pressure on the reins that the animal often fails to find in the handling of masculine whips. Your real spirited girl, who likes driving, does not content herself with a horse that ambles along like a sheep. Give her a briskly stepping cob and she will get out of him his best work and her soul will be Jake Sharp's Family and Servants.

[From a New York Letter.] • Two magnificent big black horses prancing in ont of a carriage, in the polished panels of which the pedestrians saw themselves as in a looking the pedestrians saw themselves as in a lookingglass. A driver and a footman scated high and stiff in front, with no speck of dust on their blue and drab livery. The equipage was all that fashlon prescribes for millionaires to ride in. It rolled down Fith avenue, which was suitable enough.

It turned westward at Fourteenth street, which indicated some particular errand in an unaccustomed part of the city, and then it rumbled through a number of thorough fares in a great tenement-house region until it stopped at the portial of Ludlow Street Jail.
An old woman and a young one emerged from the vehicle, the doors and curtains of which had been closed during the ride. Were they on an errand of charity? No. They were themselves pitiable in need of what nobody could give to them—lost happiof what nobody could give to them—lost happiness. They were the wife and daughter of sake Sharp, the convicted briber. Awful punishment has fallen upon the Sharps, no matter whether the old corruptionist goes to Sing Sing or not.

"Well," I remarked to a mutual acquaintance those servants show a good spirit in sticking to the service of the disgraced family. Some lackey, would have deserted them as soon as the disaster fell."

ply. "Every servant connected with the Sharp household is getting exactly doubled wages. Faithful? Not much. Every one would have quit, but Mrs. Sharp kept them by doubling their pay. She wished neither the fret nor appearance of a break up of the retinue."

[From the Chicago Journal.]
Passing over Wells street bridge last evening

woe-begone lad asked a suburbaner for "a quar

woe-begone lad asked a subulronaer lor a quar-ter to get me something to eat," "Young man," said he from the suburbs, "I can tell you where you can find both gold and sliver." "Where?" the boy asked, eagerly, "In Webster's big dic-tionary," was the reply. The ignorant beggar boy didn't know what the funny man meant, but he saw from his looks that he didn't mean to give Practising Economy.

(From Harper's Basar.)
"You must practise economy, young man," said the old gentleman; "you are altogether too extrayagant."

"I do practise economy;" was the response "I only ate a bowl of bread and milk to-day for m anch."

"That looks better," commented the father, omewhat mollified. "What did it cost you?-

"Well, I had to give the walter half a dollar, father."

[From the Sasannah News.]

A mother in the suburbs started her five-year-old son to school on Monday. She and her daughter

"Yes," he said.
"What kind of sums were they? hard?" asked

She Didn't Remember Him.

[From Tid-Bits.]
Fashionable Young Woman to dry goods clerk—

Dry Goods Cierk—Why, Clara, how do you do haven't seen you since we parted in the Adiron lacks.

Fashionable Young Woman—Sir!
Dry Goods Clerk—What kind of lace would you be pleased to look at?

No Charm in "the Old, Old Story " for Her.

for a little girl who had been unfortunate in he

"Well, my little one, what shall it be about?"

"Oh, tell me 'bout anythin' 'cept Jesus. Gran'ma's told me all there is 'bout him," replied

[From the Binghamton Republican.]

There was nothing new in "The Old, Old Story" his sister.

"Only kid sums," he answered sneeringly.

should like to look at some lace, please.

Don't waste your admiration," was the re

Afternoo

Evening World.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11TH.

BUBBURIPTION (Including Postage),

PER MONTH, 30c.; PER YEAR, $3.50.

TO ADVERTISERS. The roles for advertising in the Daily WORLD to not apply to the Evening issue. Nor do the roles of that issue apply to the morning edition.

THE PIRST DAY'S RECORD

ore one for THE EVENING WORLD AS therer: In addition to all the curat news of the day, and full reports of ing events in its extra edition, it premted the public in its first issue with an clusive, extended and remarkable interw with Gov. HILL.

other for THE EVENING WORLD & ne slert ally of Justice: It gave the detecas yesterday a most important clue, that solve the hitherto impenetrable mystery he murder of LILLIE HOYLE at Webster, e for THE EVENING WORLD the livelies ad most successful debut in the history of That after 8.80 P. M. 111.410 of the first issue of a new paper should sold is an achievement phenon alleled. This heartiest of popular estings is an inspiring incentive for the career of THE EVENING WORLD WILL tify the auspices of its birth.

STRAINING AT A GNAT.

is all very well to stop collar-button les and the little fair lotteries, as the law sgainst them. But the great heel of chance in Wall street still revolves. re with big stakes flourish high above the statutes. An innocent slipper raffic is at once suppressed. But a speculaorner in the necessities of life goes un buked. The camel is unnoticed, while the at is promply squelched. What a scathing mile on the inequalities of our laws!

A METROPOLITAN WEGERRITY.

Stir up the transportation question, gentle non. The elevated roads as at present conducted are utterly incapable of meeting the public want. They are doubtless inadequate nder any system of management. Their inficiency is demonstrated daily to the discomfort and danger of several bundred smand people. They are as baby carriages to the adult metropolis. Give us something ter. The growth of the city is cramped this lack of transportation facilities. ousands are crowded out to Brooklyn and Jarsey, who would prefer to remain on the

Give us an underground road, and perhaps wo of them. They must be both central and eap. And, hurry up the work. It is a

A VINDICATION OF REFORM.

The results of the examination of subordi tes for promotion at the Custom-House afford conclusive evidence of the superiority of the competitive over the patronage system cointment. A very large percentage of ne clerks who entered the service under the Civil Service Law passed the examination with a high average. Many clerks who owed their original positions to their exerms as political henchmen evinced an exerdinary amount of stupidity and ignorance in answering the simplest questions.

This sort of work vindicates the reform could be exceptional or local. To the rear with the dropes, blockheads and brainless slars everywhere. Let practical business inciples prevail throughout all the great business agencies of the Government.

TO BANDOLPH B. MARTINE.

You have done well as District-Attorney so well that the people are for you and the ns against you. You can have no

You want to be Judge of Sessions. You have won the promotion. The politicians want to nominate you again for District-Attorney simply because they desire to head off the popular demand that your brilliant young assistant, DE LANCEY NICOLL, shall be your successor in that office.

Our advice to you is, do not let the poli ticians use you to destroy you. Refuse their tion for District-Attorney. Then the people will nominate you for Judge of Sesstons, with Dr LANCEY NICOLL for District Attorney, and will elect you both.

A WEAK PLATFORM.

Gov. HILL made some admirable and forci tile points in his interesting interview with THE EVENING WORLD correspondent. But he overstates the case in declaring that "the aboring man is satisfied with the provisions of the Democratic platform this fall." That platform, with the exception of its excellent plank on the tariff question, has mighty littie to commend itself to the approval of the laboring man or anybody else. It is not on a par with the party. It is not an adequate expression of the sentiment of the peratic masses on the burning issues of the door of technicality in their faces. the day. It is dumb on the aggressions of corporate power. It is silent on the corruption of the money-bag in politics. It ignores the great question of temperance and other ral issues that are stirring the commu

If the Democrats carry the State this fall, they will do so not because, but in spite of,

INVESTIGATION NEEDED.

THE WORLD'S Story of KRILLIE BROWN, the nost lateresting portion of which is to be ablished next Sunday, is not a romance. It a plain record of every day life in the City our business men are absorbed in their daily pursuits and while our millionaires are seekng to kill time in the pursuit of pleasure.

The effect of the revelations ought not to cease with the passing of the interest they have excited. They should lead to a close and careful scrutiny of every individual case of alleged lunacy at least in our public institutions. An examination by experts conducted independently of the persons connected with the institutions might lead to the discovery of cases which ought to be treated elsewhere than in a lunatic asylum, and would at least satisfy the public mind that no sane person is undergoing the horrible fate of confinement in a mad-house.

A FALSE PRETENSE.

If the Inspectors of Election who are duly appointed and will serve are honest men, prepared to protect the ballot-box from fraud and to make a fair count, the failure of the Labor party to obtain the additional Inspectors to which the law entitles them will not be of much consequence. But the fight made against the appointment of the new Inspectors creates the suspicion that some dishonest work is expected in the canvass of the votes.

However this may be, the pretense that the United Labor party cannot claim to have cast 68,000 votes last year because Progressives, Socialists and others voted its ticket is absurd. It might as well be said that Mr. HEWITT was not elected by the Democratic party because Tammany, County Democracy, Mugwumps and Republicans voted for him. Mr. GRORGE was the candidate of the Labor party last year and is its candidate this year.

HOW THE DEMOCRATS STAND.

Gen. CLARK, the Clerk of the House of Representatives, says that "the minimum Democratic clear majority over all in the present House will be ten, and it may be fourteen." There are four vacancies two in this State, one in Rhode Island and one in Louisians, If Rhode Island elects a Republican the vote by States on the choice of the next President, if the election should be thrown into the House, would stand: Republican, 20-just enough to elect; Demo cratic, 17, and New Hampshire tied.

What a contrast this is to the last House, in which the Democrats had 48 majority, while the vote by States stood, Democratic, 19 : Republican, 16 : tied, 8. Yet when the last House of Representatives was elected the Republicans held the Government and the Democrats were ostracized from the Federal service, while the present House was chosen after a Democratic Administration had been nearly two years in control at Washington.

Who will contend, after this, that the possession of power and patronage is all that is needed to make a political party strong?

The Government's policy of condemning and killing diseased cattle and paying the owners $40 a head ought to be stopped by Mr. Bangu or some other humane person. Speculators are buying up old cows at $10 a head, putting a diseased animal among them to infect the herd and then practically selling their carcasses to Uncle Sam at a profit of

The Central Bark botanist and his force have all the can do to fight the parasites of the Park, all sorts of ugly insects that est up the leaves and sap the juices of the trees. How similar they are to the parasites of the public service, aid what a pity it is that we cannot find a botanist to destroy the latter.

The first shock of surprise at HIGGINS's announcement of his intention to retire from his office as Appointment Clerk will be tempered by the additional announcement that he contemplates "retiring" into another ory. There is no good reason why it official position with more salary and "more

> THE Police Board violates a plain law in refusing to appoint Inspectors of Election for the United Labor party. The Commissioners who obstruct the statute should be held responsible and made to answer for the offense.

Anarchist DRURY is yearning to cast a playful little bomb at the Czar. The valiant DRULEEP SINGH is anxious to defend him with his life's blood. A judicious friend of the Czar should introduce these two worthies and let them fit it out.

Mr. James Gordon Bennett, the editor and proprietor of the esteemed and prosperous Herald, is back in the city after a prolonged absence in Europe. We welcome his return, and hope he will now remain at home.

England has just built on the Clyde the fastest war cruiser afloat. Well, we must build a Yankee cruiser to beat her as badly as the Volunteer beat the Thistle. Wake up, Secretary Whitney !

A circulation of 100,000 has heretofore been the rarely realized dream of leading journalists after a lifetime of exertion. THE EVEN-ING WORLD surpassed that figure at a bound.

A motto for the dinner to PAINE and BUB. ozss after their thrice-achieved victory : If at first you do succeed, why, keep on succeeding.

The Gronge men will suspect, if they don't inspect, as a result of the slamming of

A big sugar trust is now in process of formation. There is nothing sweet about it to the people's taste.

Not a Square Shake.

[From the Washington Critic.]
"Der ain't no use tryin' a square skake m issher country," said a tough-looking young

" What's de matter: p'lesce onto you again ?" "Naw. But I und'stan' Jimmy de Bruiser's got twice't as big a phortygraph in the Rogues' Gallery as I asve. Anybody knows I stand higher in de profession dan he does."

Slow Travelling.

There are more sumbling blocks in the way of the block Sharps path to Sing Stop than there was no be Pilgram's Progress to the promised land.

FICS AND THISTLES.

The buyer of a large Cincinnati tobacco house, who is paid $10,000 a year to know good tobac when he sees it, neither smokes nor chews. Isaac Eilis, a Petersburg, Va., patriarch, has just taken unto himself his eighth wife. Eilis is seventy-five years old and is the father of thirty-A person who has seen the two card cases made of Pranzini's skin states that the material resembles pigskin, but is somewhat mottled in con equence of having been tanned too hastily. A French newspaper has an item to the effect that a poor shoemaker of Tours, named Polbrat, received word from the Foreign Office recently tha an uncle had died in Chicago and left him

A cyclone which whizzed by Laramie, Wyo. ecently, avoiding the town but causing a good deal of destruction on the plains, was seen to ouch the earth and throw up an immense cloud of dust. A ranchman who passed the spot soon afterwards found that it had scooped out a big pasin-shaped hole as large as an ordinary cellar.

The Sophomores of Berkeley University in San co started in to " rush " the Freshmen, but the latter routed their persecutors and took one of em prisoner. The unlucky Sophomore was after which he was sent back wet and shivering to his friends as a warning against future rashness.

Mooselucmeguntic, Mollychunkemunk and Welakes in the Rangely region in Maine, the happy fishing and hunting grounds of the Boston sportsnen. The folk lore of the locality relates that the mentioned lake was named by an old hunter who shot a moose near it, and in describing the action afterwards, said simply: "Moose-Book-

Late sojourners at Saratoga are interested in curious phenomenon. It was noticed one day that some leaves that had fallen into a new spring were covered to a thickness of nearly a quarter of an inch with a substance resembling lime. The ques-tion now arises in the minds of the patrons of the spring, If the water can deposit so heavy a sedi-ment on the leaves, how thick is the sediment in

The guardians of the King of Anam's scraglio, is customary in Oriental countries, are all ennuchs, and of one of these a romantic story is told. He was so gentle and graceful a youth, and so handsome withal that he was regarded with special favor by the queens, and was given the One morning this charming fellow eloped with an officer of the guard. It was then discovered that the trusted official was a woman who had thus tisguised herself in order to enjoy the pay and harem. The couple were only married and, instead of beheading them, the King violated his oustom and granted them a gracious pardon.

All of the seven Swedish officers who are present ith their men at the International encampmen Chicago are accomplished linguists. Every man of them speaks English and French as fluently as his native tongue, and most of them speak German. Two or three of them speak Italian, and wo can converse easily in modern Greek. They are all young, and yet all of them have seen hard service. Lieut. Verta, although not much over hirty, has been a soldier for eleven years, three of which were passed with Stanley in Africa. The swedish, Danish and Norwegian commission mcers present at the encampment number twentyone and are the pick of their respective little

There is a grim humor about the Missouri Bald Cnobbers which leads them to drop into poetry ocasionally when warning an obnoxious neighbor to eave the country. James Robinson, near Spring feld, recently received a poetical epistle from them, one verse of which ran:

A mess of fish now and then. Occasionally a big fat hen, Or a bushel of wheat

From some man's bin. Little things like these they did not mind, but when the pilfering became more extensive it was decided that he must go. A bundle of hickory witches accompanied the note, and although Mr. obtason has not gone yet he appreciates the risk

W. R. Pease, who lives near San José, Cal., had in exciting adventure with an eagle a short time His attention was attracted to the cries of the cattle in the corral about 8 o'clock in the evening, and on going to learn the cause, he saw a large eagle trying to fly over the fence with a oung calf in its talons. Mr. Pease seized a pitchork and struck the bird, which dropped the calf and attacked him. One blow from the cagle's wings knocked him down, but he finally succeeded in impaling it on one of the prongs of the pitchfork and finished the job with a shogtun. The calf was so badly injured that it had to be killed. The eagle was the largest ever seen in that part of California.

SKILLFUL CARD-SHUFFLERS.

J. W. Pigott is partial to hearts. J. W. Riley is a hustler at euchre. Dixey is a wonderful poker-player. Bob Hilliard likes to play, if he wins, Billy Florence is a good euchre player. Henry Edwards enjoys progressive whist. James Lewis likes a social rubber of whist. Maurice Barrymore is addicted to solitaire.

John Mackey seldom misses a trick in Kyrle Bellew is a devotee of three-card

Ben Maginley is always ready for a game Alfred Follin knows all the games with Louis Aldrich never misses a rubber of whist if he can help it. De Wolf Hopper practices three-card nonte, playing for fun.

Stuart Robson likes to play solitaire in his iressing-room during stage intermissions. James Powers always carries a pack of cards in his coat ready for any emergency. Edwin Booth is addicted to solitaire, and claims playing to be an intellectual exercise.

An Unprecedented Success. [From This Morning's World.]

THE EVENING WORLD made its first appearance esterday afternoon, and its success was unpreedented in the history of journalism. The circuation of this first issue was 111,410 copies; the paper appeared in complete and perfect form; he supply to dealers was uniform and constant, and every mail was duly reached, the unrivalled mechanical department of THE WORLD responding fully to the extraordinary demands made upon it. The newspaper, filled with new and unique features, seemed to have met in every respect the best expectations of the reading public-so much so, indeed, that newsdealers and newsboys found that their orders had not been sufficient to meet the demand. Copies of this first issue commanded an actual premium uptown as the afternoon wore

A correspondent asks why the horny growth at the end of fingers and thumbs is called a nail. We Saw St. Mark's Lion Fed Dally. have carefully searched through every known au-thority on the subject. The weight of opinion seems to favor the theory that it is because this is what a woman hits every time she aims a hammer [From Le Gaulois.] Said a Paris dude, just back from his travels: "Yes, I visited Russia, Germany, Austria, It-

"Did you go to Venice?"
"Yes, of course!"
"And did you see the Lion of St. Mark?"
"I and with in the see of Why; I saw him ted every day while I stayed there." At the Party. From Texas Siftings. Hel-Do you ling Mengeneral T She-No, Soprano.

demands for a story.

THEY WANT TO BE SENATORS.

Driving is more than ever in vogue with LIVELY AND CLOSE CONTESTS IN SEVERAL that class of New York women who own OF THE CITY DISTRICTS. forses and take the air in their private car> man Muller Has Emigrated to Staten Island and Thinks He Can Beat Col. Murphy With the Rural Vote-A Deal by Van Cott Which May Cause Trouble-The Labor Vote a Factor in the Ninth. New York City is represented at Albany by seven Senators. The present representaves are Michael C. Murphy, Edward F. Reilly, James Daly, Thomas C. Dunham, John J. Cullen, William C. Traphagen and George W. Plunkitt Murphy and Daly are credited to the County Democracy, although Daly is not a stalwart organization man. Reilly, Cullen, Traphagen and Plunkitt are Tammany Hall braves. Dunham attends Wigwam meetings, although he is not on friendly terms with a few of the Tammany chiefs. The Republicans of this city were not re which they handle the reins.

The women affect several styles of vehicle. The village cart still holds its own, but the most correct thing is a carefully appointed "spider" phaeton and a pair of spanking cobs, their tails docked, the hoofs glistening and their well-groomed flanks shining like mirrors. Behind, on his airy perch, a flunkey sits in statuesque repose, his arms tightly folded and his English face as expressionless as a flat-iron. Yet his mistress can give him a point or two. She sits bolt upright and keeps her mind on the guidance of her horses. The same girl in a Victoria, with a bulky coachman managing the reins, would droop as languidly in her aristocratic repose as a wilting flower, but not when she is doing the driving. presented in the upper house at the last session of the legislature. In 1885 the united Democratic nominees were elected in every one of the several Senatorial districts. This year, however, the Republicans are deter-mined to elect one, if not two, of their can-didates. as a wilting nower, but not the driving.

Her trim figure is neatly defined by a tailormade suit, her gloved hands exert a firm pressure on the reins, and with a quick eye she guides her cobs knowingly through the opposing currents. Attention to the work in hand gives a shade of greater firmness to the The contests for Senator in several of the

The contests for Senator in several of the districts promise to be lively and close. The Fifth District takes in Richmond County and the First. Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth and Fourteenth wards and part of the Fourth Ward of this city. Col. Michael C. Murphy will be renominated by the County Democracy and Tammany Hall for a third term. The district is overwhelmingly Democratic, but there is an immense Labor vote in it, as fully nine-tenths of the residents of the extreme lower wards are daily toilers. Ex-Congressman Nicholas Muller announces that he will be a candidate against Col. Murphy. He says he will run as an independent candidate with the Republican indorsement, and with the hope of getting support from the Labor party. The ex-Congressman no longer resides in the First Ward. He has taken up his permahand gives a shade of greater firmness to the soft curves of her mouth.

"They like to drive fast stock," said an admiring stable man, who was watching a lady drive off. She was in a two-wheeled gig, a heavy English-looking team, practically tilbury with a top. The reins came pretty tautly through the drivingbar as the big horse tugged at them, chafing to let himself out. When the fair driver gets out into on onen street she gives him his The ex-Congressman no longer resides in the First Ward. He has taken up his permanent residence in a villa on Staten Island, and his friends say that he is solid there. It is also averred that Muller will have the regular Staten Island machine behind him, and that he will leave Richmond County with 3,500 votes more than Col. Murphy will have down there.

The Colonel is not at all frightened by these calculations and is confident of his re fashion sets her seal thereon. It is a good, wholesome habit, and the afternoon drive in the Park is raised still more to a hygienic base. Usually only that class to whom luxury is a daily occurrence demands the perfect outfit which is part of the enjoyment. Livery stables do not care to keep such teams to let, as a rule. It is too much trouble and expense to keep them in the perfect order they require, and not many would like to pay the price they would demand. The team must be unexceptional in the smallest details, even to the knot of gayly colored ribbon which ties down the lash of the whip.

The world that drives is familiar with another lady whip whose pair of mettlesome bays are seen daily spinning along upper Fifth avenue and the Park. Miss Cook handles the ribbons like a mistress in the art, and her bright cheeks and eyes are a good comment on the healthy diversion which her sex has usurped.

A woman can drive as well as a man. Not all do, of course. But everybody who knows anything about horses is aware that brute force is not the chief element in their control. Some of the delicate-looking girls convex a mystery to the horse by their indicions. turn to the Senate.

The Sixth District includes the Seventh, Eleventh and Thirteenth Wards and the upper portion of the Fourth Ward. This is the district that has been represented by Thomas F. Grady and Timothy J. Campbell. For the past two years it has been represented by the past two years it has been represented by Edward F. Reilly, who is the Wigwam boss of the Sixth Assembly District. There is scarcely an opposition to his nomination and re-election.

re-election.

James Daly has been the Senator from the Seventh District for three terms, and rumor has it that he is not a candidate for a fourth term. Senator Daly is not now as high in has it that he is not a candidate for a fourth term. Senator Daly is not now as high in favor with the County Democracy leaders as he was once upon a time. He voted for the subway bill against their wishes, and it is an open secret in politics that he has lost caste with the powers that be in the New Amsterdam Club. The Senator himself says that he is tired of legislative duties, and has no personal desire for a continuance of Senatorial honors. Many of his admirers are mentioning his name for comptroller. The district has a large German, independent and Labor vote. It includes the Tenth and Seventeenth wards, and that portion of the city between Fourteenth and Thirtieth streets, Broadway and Third avenue. Assemblyman Kunzenman, of the Fourteenth District, has the Senatorial fever. He is County Democracy man. The of the Fourteenth District, has the Senatorial fever. He is County Democracy man. The Tammany Hall candidate for the nomination from the Eighth Assembly District in Moritz Herzberg. Assemblyman Charles Smith, of "silver dollar" fame is looking for the Republican nomination for Senator.

Ex.Fire Commissioner Cornelius Van Cott will probably be the nominee of the Republican party in the "Fighting Eighth." The borough has been made historical by its political rows, and by being the stamping-ground of ex-Senator Frederick S. Gibbs. The district has of late years been carried by ground of ex-senator Frederick S. Gibbs.
The district has of late years been carried by the Democrats, on account of faction fights in the Republican party. It is said that the nomination of Mr. Van Cott will harmonize the warring factions. He is the boss of the Seventh District machine. There is said to be a deal to secure his nomination. George B. Deane, jr., of the Ninth Assembly District machine, is booked for Civil Justice. This combination would leave out the Thirteenth Assembly District, and may cause trouble. There are hundreds of anti-machine Repub-licans in the Thirteenth District who may re-

There are hundreds of anti-machine Republicans in the Thirteenth District who may rebel against Van Cott's nomination. Senator Dunham is not anxiously seeking a renomination. He would like to be placed on the county ticket for Comptroller.

The Ninth District has been a Democratic stronghold. It extends from Fourteenth to Eighty-sixth street, and from Third avenue to the East River. Henry George got his heaviest vote in this section of the city last year. It is thought by many local politicians that the Labor party can elect a candidate for Senator. John J. Cullen wishes a renomination and if Tammany Hall secures the Senatorship of this district in the harmony proceedings he may draw the prize for a third term, although his election may not be a certainty. W. J. Boylan, clerk in the City Court, Assemblyman Edward P. Hagan and William Meehan have been talked of as the Labor nominee. The chances are now in favor of Meehan, He is one of the young Labor chiefs of the Eighteenth Ward. County Democracy men are advocating Assemblyman McIntyre and ex-Assemblyman Hagar that has been some talk of nominating Judge Kelly, County Democracy, for Senator, and Tax Commissioner Feitner, Tammany Hall, for Civil Justice.

Assemblyman Jacob M. Cantor, of the Commissioner Feither, Tammany Hall, for Civil Justice.

Assemblyman Jacob M. Cantor, of the Twenty-third District, is slated for the United Democratic nomination in the Tenth Senate District, and if appearances are not deceptive Assemblyman Eugene S. Ives will receive the harmony nomination in the Flor receive the harmony nomination in the Elev-enth Senate District. This would bowl out Senators Traphagan and Plunkitt. Both Cantor and Ives are Tammanyites. Plunkitt is insisting upon a renomination.

Rumblings of the Campaign The Republican State Committee is in need of campaign funds.

Mr. Levi P. Morton and ex-Senator Thom C. Platt hold frequent conferences. Ex-Mayor Grace says he will take an active part in the local campaign if Judge Donohue is not renominated.

Adolph L. Sanger and Joseph E. Neu-berger are rival County Democracy candi-dates for the City Court. Civil Justice Ambrose Monell is spoken of s Tammany Hall's choice for Justice of the

The seven Senators to be elected in November will draw $21,000 for salaries for two years. They will spend, at a low estimate, $35,000 to be elected. There are at least two Police Commissioner Stephen B. French offered to bet $100 to $90 that the Republican State ticket will be elected. Park Commis-sioner Theodore W. Myers accepted the

Ex-Alderman Thomas Foley would like to epresent the First Assembly District again at the City Hall. Alderman Cornelius Flynn

s a candidate for re-election.

It is understood that ex-Collector William H. Robertson will be the Republican candidate for Senator in the Westchester-Rockland shietrict. He was Senator in in 1886 only 1886

CANARIES ALWAYS IN FASHION.

English Robins and Gray African Parrots are Growing in Favor.

S usual," said Mr. Reiche, the bird man, 'canaries are the popular pet birds this fall. We are importing more than ever this season. although the greater part that we have yet received are of the common variety, for which we obtain $2 apiece. Later in the season we expect they will sell up to $3." "Then there is some choice between the birds?"

"Certainly, the Andresberg canaries have very soft, sweet notes are always sought after. They are also somewhat larger than the common variety. They do not begin to come along till the holidays, and even then they are very scarce. They are never sold under $5 apiece and a good singer will sometimes being $25.20 bring $25."

"What other birds are desirable as pets?" "There is quite a variety of European song birds imported nowadays, the best linnets, thrushes, bullfinches, blackbirds, magpies, goldfinches, nightingales, blackcaps, English robins and starlings. The starlings, bullfinches and blackbirds are frequently trained to whistle one or two airs. starlings, bullfinches and blackbirds are irequently trained to whistle one or two airs, and such birds are very valuable, no price being set for them. It is very difficult to get Europeans who own them to part with a good trained bird, and they will refuse almost any offer for a pet of this kind. The English robins are a beautiful song bird, and are now growing in popularity among bird fanciers. Nightingales will bring from $8 to $15 anices."

"How about parrots ; do you find the de-"How about parrots; do you find the demand for them as active as ever?"

"Oh, yes, there is very little difference. There is a demand for African gray parrots, which are the best talkers, and untrained birds of this variety will sell from $10 to $16 apiece. The yellow-headed amagone is another variety that can be easily trained and brings about the same price. The comanother variety that can be easily trained and brings about the same price. The com-mon species, the Cuban, bluehead and Mara-caibo, can be bought for $4 to $10, depend-ing on the market. Of course all these prices are for untrained birds. A trained talker will bring almost any price if the owners care to sell, which does not very often happen."

STRANGERS WITHIN OUR GATES.

Col. Amosa J. Parker, of Albany, stops a the Murray Hill. Merchant Prince R. H. White, of Boston registers at the Hoffman House.

Comptroller W. B. Moran, of Detroit, may be found at the Hoffman House. Alex. McDonald, of the Halifax, N. S. Yacht Club, is at the Hoffman House.

The Hoffman House boasts the entertain ment of that stanneh Trojan, ex-Senator R Charles Eneu Johnson, of Philadelphia, whose printing ink has illuminated many a book and paper, is a guest at the Murray Hill. P. C. Lounsbury writes himself from Con-necticut on the Murray Hill Hotel register. No one has a better right, for he is Governor of that commonwealth.

Ex-Mayor Francis Hendricks, of Syracuse, who does not want to become an ex-Senator for two years to come, is stopping in close proximity to the headquarters of the Repub-lican State Committee.

J. A. P. Reavis, of Washington, owns so much land that he would be in danger of being mobbed in a Henry George com-munity. His land is in New Mexico and he, for the present, is at the Hoffman House. Dr. Carloa F. McDonald is an expert in mental diseases who knows an insane person when he sees one. He is superintendent of the Criminal Insane Asylum at Auburn, N.

Y., and is temporarily domiciled at Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Mr. Depew Talks of Blaine. (From the Chicago Times.)
"Well," said Mr. Depew, while his left foot beat a tattoo on the carpeted floor of his apartment, "I know that Mr. Blaine does not particularly desire the semenation, and yet, as a matter of fact, he has no opposition to that office. It is a peculiar condition of affairs, but there is practically no opposition in the country to Mr. Blaine'

"I tell you," he added after a quiet pause, during which the nervous foot was also inactive, "the American people have instinctively a deepseated sentiment in favor of fair play. When Mr. Tilden was a candidate for the Presidency there was a large public sentiment, in which I as a Republican did not share, that resolved itself into an almost general belief that Tilden was elected as President of the United States, and if he had been nominated again he would have been elected, as sure as guns," and Mr. Depew brought his right hand down upon the arm of his chair with forcible emphasis. "Now," said he, "the people are of the firm belief that a hysterical response to an asinine address, delivered by a phenomenal jackas with a reverend cognomen, resulted in the defeat of Mr. Blaine for the Presidency at last election, and if he should be nominated again the result will be far different. As it was, he was defeated only by 700 votes, and since that time the people have had an opportunity to estimate what they got and what they have lost by that result." "I tell you," he added after a quiet pause,

Two Swells from Abread. [New Fork Letter to Savannah News.]
On the Fifth avenue promenade I saw an elegant and very handsome woman. She wore a costume of pale gray silk, with draperies of Irish lace, and on her head was a bonnet of gold-colored tulle, trimmed with white tulle and Irish lace to correspond. It was a rich but simple and becoming toilet. This was the Countess of Dalhousie, our newest aristocrat from Britain. She was walking the hundred feet or so from a store to a carriage. Along came a common looking sort of swell Englishman, on whom nobody thought of turning their eyes from the pretty woman. That was the Duke of Mariborough, whom we have been abusing or coddling, as fancy took us, for his notorious career abroad. What struck me as interesting in the momentary encounter was the recognition between the two titled persons. The Duke seemed inclined to stop and warmly greet the Countess, but she barrely inclined her proud head in an incipient bow, without a glimpse of a smile, and coldly passed away. It was substantially a cut direct. on her head was a bonnet of gold-colored tulle,

A New Use for Dogs.

[Prom the Philadelphia Bulletin.]
A new use has been found for that "noble brute," the dog. He has been made to serve man's interests in many ways, but not until re cently has he been used as a substitute for the sandwich " advertising man. That he has been "sandwich" advertising man. That he has been put to this use is true, as some who frequent Chestnut street may notice. An enterprising business man owns a large fine coach dog, and he has made for it a blanket, upon which is painted the firm's advertisement. When the delivery wagon goes on its rounds the dog follows it, and it is the hope of his owner that the advertisement he carries will attract more eyes than would naturally be attracted by the sign upon the wagon. This is undoubtedly the case, but it certainly is not conducive to the comfort of the faithful animal.

(From the Bufulo Express.) As the Expressionist was strolling down Washington street last evening smoking his imported Henry Clay cigar-ette, he overheard a man, who knows all the points in a horse, tell another man, knows all the points in a horse, tell another man, evidently a buyer, "You can always tell a blooded horse in this way: Take an ear of corn and throw it at him. If he grabs it and devours it fast he is a thoroughbred. If he doesn't he is not." This horseman evidently allows his stock to go without food for a week so that when a customer comes the thoroughbreds will grab quick and eat fast, and perhaps when sold die of dyspepsia.

No Consolution for Her. (From Le Gaulois.) A lady had just lost her husband and she was surrounded by friends who were trying all they surrounded by trial-knew to console her.

'Alas!" she exclaimed, bursting into a fresh
'Alas!" she exclaimed, bursting into a fresh torgent of tears, "It's week only possible would

CHAT ABOUT THE THEATRES.

MRS. JAMES BROWN POTTER'S ADVENT TO

Opera-Mr. Abbey's Plans for His New

Playbouse Elmira Threatens to Boycott a Theatre if the "Adamless Eden" Is Played There—William Daly's Mission West.

BE WITHOUT FIREWORKS. Fun Got Out of the Custom-House in Comic to the city; not a single trumpet, not the smallest pyrotechnical display will be ald the advent of the much. discussed lady. The simplicity of her arrival will be wonderfully conspicuous, but the reasons for this are beautifully and ically explained by Manager J. Charles Davis, of Miner's People's Theatre. Said Mr. Davis, effervescently: "Every song and dance actress nows. days has a tug to meet her down the bay Every one who comes to this country with a desire to be known gets a tug. It is too overdone. Mrs. Potter will have no tug." The lady will land just like other passengers, and then go quietly to her residence in this city, and to Mr. James Brown Potter, of course, She left France on Saturday by La Champagne, and sent a cable when on board to the lucky Miner, informing of him the fact that she was well and sailing, "Mile, de Bressier" is the play selected for her open-ing night, and Kyrle Bellew, whom his London friends describe as Ouida-esque, supernla, With a dash of London Journal, is at present arranging for rehearsals.

It is very probable that "Unita," the comic opera which Robert Stoepel, the recently deceased musician, left unfinished, will be given during the coming winter in this city. Mr. Stoepel thought a great deal of this work and was very anxious to see it produced in New York. The libretto was furnished by A. P. Dunlop and Fred Williams, who wrote "The Humming Bird." The story sounds as though it ought to be funny. "Unita" is not, as might be supposed, the name of a maiden, but of an imaginary republic in South America. The posed, the name of a maiden, but of an imag-inary republic in South America. The rules of the Custom-House are not particu-larly mirth inspiring in real life, but in "Unita" they are called upon to furnish humor. The libretto is based upon the fact that in this supposititious republic the Minis-ter Plenipotentiary can import his house-hold goods free of duty. A fascinating old milliner who, loves the Minister and tries to smuggle, and various vouthful characters are milliner who, loves the Minister and tries to snuggle, and various youthful characters are the principal features of the piece. The time is one hundred years ago.

Henry E. Abbey will be a dangerous rival of Augustin Daly, and that is his intention. The stage setting in the second act of "The Mousetrap," which is to be given to night, will be wonderfully Dalyish in its attention to details. The rich plush hangings, the costly furniture, the dainty ornaments, all supplied by a Fifth avenue house, will all institute comparisons. Mr. Abbey intends during the season to produce a Shakespearian comedy, regardless of expense. After "The Mousetrap" he will give "Caste," and then Mme. Selina Dolaro's play called "Fashion," which Mr. Abbey recently purchased.

A friend of one of the members of Lily A friend of one of the members of Lily Clay's "Adamless Eden" company yesterday received a despatch from Elmira, where the company was to have played last night. The despatch stated that the citizens and newapapers had, with apparent unanimity, resolved to boycott the theatre where the "Adamless Eden" was to have been given if the performance of the play were permitted. The movement was so strong that the owners of the theatre succumbed to it, and the "Adamless Eden" was left to its own resources. No more was told, but that was enough to prove that Elmira can't be such a bad place, after all.

Miss Clements, who originally came to this country from England with D'Oyley Carte to sing the leading role in "Patience," has been engaged for Niblo's Garden. d for the production of William Daly, the well-known stage director, leaves this city to-day for San Francisco, where he is to take charge of the production of "Her Atonement" at the California Theatre. Lewis Morrison and Miss Kate Forsyth will be in the cast.

Gossip of the Greenroom Miss Ethel Sprague, granddaughter of the late Chief Justice Chase, is studying for the

At the Fifth Avenue Mrs. Langtry continues to draw crowded houses with "As In a Looking Glass." The funeral of Wm. J. Turpin, the well-wm Washington correspondent, took place this afternoon. The Salisbury Troubadours devote this week at the Bijou to their latest success, "The Humming Bird."

At the Thalia the comedy "Drop of Tor-son," will be on the boards every evening this week except Saturday.

Miss Maud Banks, daughter of Gen. N. P. Banks, will make her debut here to-n-cht in the title role of "Joan of Arc."

"The Great Pink Pearl" at the Lyceum, with "Editha's Burglar," makes one of the most attractive bills in the city. The aquatic scene in "A Dark Secret" seems to have captured the town. The melodrama is destined to a phenomenal run.

The versatile Dockstader and his assistants present this week the comic aspects of the President's Western trip and the yacht race, with new songs and character sketches.

The announcement of the opening of Mr. Abbey's regime at Wallack's, with Sydney Grundy's "Mouse Trap," is a matter of great interest in professional as well as theatre-

Miss Ada Gray at Poole's Theatre last night was Lady Isabel and Mme. Vine in "East Lynne." Her impersonation was very favor-ably received. Harry Mitchell was Sir Francis Levison

"Clio" was given at the Third Avenue Theatre last night, and an energetic audience showed beyond doubt that Bartley Campbell's drama was still popular. The play well mounted and the cast was good. Dockstader's was, as usual, crowded last night, and the audience laughed incessantly until it was time to leave. "Cleveland's Western trip," 'Volunteer and Thistle" and "The Fall of New Babylon" were among the numerous attractions.

the numerous attractions.

There is no more enthusiastic audience in the city than that which frequents the Grand Opera-House. Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin, who opened last night at that theatre in "The Golden Giant," were received with unstinted applause, which was continued during the evening. W. S. Harkins, as the gambler, gave a very creditable impersonation and came in for his share of approval. Russell Bassett, Ah Wung Sing, the Chinaman, little Harold Kidder and Miss Strickland soon appealed to the sympathy of the audience. "The Golden Giant" will do good business at the Grand Opera-House.

Hall to the Chief.

(From the Suffulo Express.)
Young Thunder and Lightning is causing the